

Securing our skills base

Mature-age mentors in oil & gas

With specialist skills in short supply, it's never been more important for mature-age employees to stay on and share their knowledge and experience with the next generation.

Australia's Upstream Oil & Gas industry contributes billions of dollars a year towards the state and national economies and is poised on the brink of major expansion and growth, but only if current and future skills shortages are addressed.

There will be opportunities for mature-age employees within the oil and gas industry to move into a range of mentoring and training roles to help prepare the next generation of employees.

The Australian Petroleum Production and Exploration Association (APPEA) is coordinating a program that includes development of an oil and gas mentoring and coaching program. If you are skilled and experienced in one of the following positions within the upstream oil and gas sector, and interested in mentoring or coaching, we'd like to hear from you:

- Process and Production Technician
- Electrical and Instrumentation Tradesperson
- Mechanical Tradesperson

Contact APPEA on 08 9321 9775 or at perth@appea.com.au.

Please quote: Mentoring Enquiry.

AUSTRALIAN PETROLEUM PRODUCTION & EXPLORATION
ASSOCIATION LIMITED

Australian Government

Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations

This project has been undertaken as a Project funded under the National Skills Shortages Strategy on behalf of the Australian Government Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations.